Bloody Iranian Coups Downfall of Mossadegh

Troops Loyal to Shah Surround Premier's Home

By JOSEPH MAZANDI

TEHRAN (UP) — Iranian troops loyal to the shah overthrew Premier Mohammed Mossadegh in a bloody coup today and besieged him in his burning home, shouting for his death.

Desperate guards ringing the home of the premier killed many of the attackers with machine guns in a battle that was still raging at dusk.

It was reported that Mossadegh's firebrand Foreign Minister Hussein Fatemi had been cut to pieces by an infuriated mob.

At least 50 persons had been killed and more than 100 wounded in street battles between the forces of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, who had fled to Rome after the failure of one abortive coup, and supporters of Mossadegh.

The city resounded with cannon and machine gun fire.

Troops attacked hideouts of Mossadegh men with tanks, artillery and bazooka fire.

Mobs stormed the Tehran prison and released supporters of the shah.

Pro-Mossadegh newspaper plants were set afire.

Reports from the provinces said army garrisons mutinied against Mossadegh, seized control of cities and proclaimed loyalty to the 33-year-old monarch.

Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi, whom the shah had named premier at the start of the abortive coup early Sunday, returned from hiding and assumed control.

In Rome, the shah confirmed Zahedi as head of a new "constitutional" government and said he was waiting word to fly home to Tehran.

Zahedi proclaimed martial law and imposed a 10 p. m. curfew until further notice.

The broadcast over Radio Tehran an outline of his policies—social justice, improvement of the lot of the working man and a higher standard of living.

Interest Rate Hurts GI Home Buyers

By RAY HENRY

WASHINGTON (UP) — The higher interest allowed since last May on GI loans hasn't helped veterans buy more homes, figures released today by the Veterans Administration show.

At the time, the raise from 4 to 4½ per cent interest was hailed by many money lenders and government officials as one which would give veterans a better chance to get the government-insured loans. They said lenders weren't anxious to put up money for veterans' home loans because the return was so small.

Since then, the number of GI home loan applications approved by the VA hasn't increased. These loan application approvals are used by the VA as one barometer indicating the availability of money for GI loans.

Figures for July show that the number of applications approved actually dropped slightly from April, the month immediately before the interest increase.

In April, 26,000 applications were approved; in July, only 25,453. May saw about 24,000 approved and June about 26,000.

T. B. King, director of the VA's Loan Guaranty Service, said the primary cause has been the demand for money for other types of investments. The great majority of our offices around the country think there will be an increase. So far, the judgement of these offices has been good.

Makes Customer of Would Be Thief

ALBUQUERQUE (UP) — A stubborn clerk late yesterday turned a would-be holdup man into a cash customer.

Frances Edwards, 22, said an aged man approached her park refreshment stand, displayed a gun and threatened to kill her if she didn't hand over the money in the cash drawer. She refused.

The elderly bandit ran around the stand shouting, "Let me in. Give me the money." Finally, he put up his gun, ordered three bottles of pop, paid for them, hopped in his car and drove off.

Ike Confers With Lodge on Far East Parley

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

NEW YORK (UP) — President Eisenhower held an unscheduled conference today with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. delegate to the United Nations, on strategy for clinching a decisive U. N. vote for a restricted Far Eastern political conference.

The chief executive huddled with Lodge at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel shortly after Mr. Eisenhower arrived here by plane from Denver for a day of conferences with administration and political leaders.

This afternoon he will take time out from his busy schedule to honor elder statesman Bernard Baruch on his 83rd birthday, and to dedicate a housing project.

Press Secretary James Hagerty said Lodge's post-breakfast visit was a "business call." He said it was a "fair assumption" that the ambassador and Mr. Eisenhower would work out last-minute maneuvers to obtain Latin American support for the American plan to limit the Far Eastern political conference to countries that had troops in the Korean war, plus Russia if it is willing to represent the Communist aggressors.

Lodge planned to meet with delegates from the 20 Latin-American countries immediately after his conference with the President.

He was believed to have told the President that the U. S. plan was virtually assured of adoption if it and against the Russian proposals for an 11-nation conference that would include the Soviet Union and the non-combatant nations of India, Poland, Sweden and Burma.

The President breakfasted with Louis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and C. D. Jackson, the White House adviser on psychological warfare.

The conference was not included in the President's original schedule for the day, and Hagerty described it as "private and off the record."

However, informed sources said Strauss and Jackson probably briefed Mr. Eisenhower on the latest atomic developments that Russia has developed a hydrogen bomb. The United States has sensitive instruments spotted around the borders of the Soviet empire to record any attempt to test the H-bomb, which to date has not been detonated according to atomic experts.

Lodge declared the resolution Vishinsky put before the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee yesterday was designed to let the Communists dominate the peace parley. Other delegates reserved comment on the Russian proposal.

Vishinsky was expected to speak before the committee today.

The Soviet program called for the peace conference to be made up of 11 countries, including five "neutrals." This ran directly counter to American desires to limit the talks to nations whose troops fought in Korea.

Russia proposed these conference members:

1. Three U. N. members whose names were listed on Page Two.

U. S. Having Best
Summer Business

WASHINGTON (UP) — U. S. business is enjoying its best summer ever, the Department of Commerce says. A department report yesterday included these figures:

Steel and automobile production were at near record rates in July.

A record for any three-month period of manufacturers' sales was set when sales in June remained above the 26 billion dollar level.

Unemployment in July was the lowest for the month since World War II — 1½ million persons.

However, the department said new orders continued to fall off in June, to a level five billions below last September's peak, and inventories continued to increase.

The Memoirs of Photographer
Taken Prisoner in Korea Fight
Make Interesting Reading

By RELMAN MORIN
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (UP) — In reading one of Frank Noel's stories of life in a Chinese prison camp the other day, I was struck by a particular line. He had written —

"I went down to Hamburg to get some film, but I was in a hurry to get back to the front because the best pictures were there."

Frank, or "Pappy" as we called him, is a news photographer. The Chinese grabbed him in that bleak and anxious winter of 1950 when the dam went bust in Korea. Now, 32 months, and several lifetimes later, he has been sprung. His memoirs make fascinating reading.

As you may know, there is an eternal debate in this ink-stained trade of ours over the question: Are photographers people?

Personally, I think they are, although there are many points that

75 Americans Released, U. N. Denies Charge

By LEROY HANSEN

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The Communists freed a record number of prisoners today and heard a harsh denial of their charges that the United Nations had given brutal treatment to Red captives.

A few hours after the 15th day of "Operation Big Switch" ended. Allied members of the prisoner repatriation commission told their Communist counterparts the U. N. had used only "minimum force" against unruly prisoners.

"Minimum force" was used only because "prisoners failed to conduct themselves as disciplined soldiers," Col. L. C. Friedersdorf told the Reds. He said non-toxic irritants had been used to stop disturbances.

The Communists released 450 prisoners including 75 more Americans, as "Operation Big Switch" went into its third week. Altogether, 1,200 Americans have been released and the Reds have promised to release 60 more tomorrow.

There was no indication that Friedersdorf had pressed demands for assurances from the Communists that they will return "all" prisoners, including those jailed for "crimes."

Stevenson to Be on Parade
at Party Meet

WASHINGTON (UP) — Potential candidates for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination will be on parade at a two-day party meeting in Chicago next month.

The meeting, Sept. 14-15, is part of the hoopla planned by his party to welcome Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee, home from a world tour.

Stevenson is a likely contender again in 1956. A Look magazine poll of 60 leading Washington political writers and commentators recently showed a majority of them think he will run again.

Others planning to attend the Chicago meeting and whose names may be offered at the 1956 nominating convention include Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, and Stuart Symington of Missouri and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Those are some of the names mentioned in party circles a full three years in advance. Others may be added.

Kefauver and Kerr were contenders at the 1952 convention. What they do in 1956 depends, in part, on winning re-election to the Senate next year.

Although it is much too early to throw a hat into the presidential ring, the Chicago meeting offers potential candidates a chance to get in some pre-season backslapping and hand-shaking with party leaders who will influence the 1956 nomination.

Plan to Widen
Part of 71
Is Dropped

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — It was all a mistake, says Highway Director Herbert Eldridge. Plans for eventually widening Highway 71 to four lanes between Fayetteville and Rogers have not been dropped.

Eldridge had said yesterday morning properly owners along the route had not given the state rights-of-way needed for the long range project and indicated the deal was off.

Later in the day, however, he discovered he had confused some details.

"I was under the impression that the deadline for acceptance of the Highway Commission's offer on Highway 71 had passed. The deadline really isn't until Friday."

The highway director said the commission plans to widen the highway between Fayetteville and Rogers from 18 to 24 feet. That can be done without additional right-of-way, he added. But it is planned to make the highway a 4-lane road when the need arises later, he said.

Interests in the Fayetteville-Springdale-Rogers area scheduled a Thursday night meeting to draft an answer to the commission. Rogers residents have asked an extension of the deadline and Eldridge said this request would be submitted to the commission at its Aug. 25 meeting.

BRADLEY (UP) — Lafayette County citizens had a preview of next summer's political races at the dedication here yesterday of a new telephone system and a highway.

U. S. Sen. John L. McClellan, Gov. Francis Cherry and former Gov. Sid McMath spoke from the same platform and took political potshots at each other. Cherry and McMath were aligned against McMath in the 1952 governor's race, and McClellan and McMath are squaring off for next year's U. S. senatorial race.

TEXARKANA (UP) — Former Gov. Sid McMath said today he had not decided whether to seek the U. S. Senate seat held by John L. McClellan next year.

"I have been considering it and have received much encouragement," McMath told the Texarkana Gazette. "But I haven't made up my mind."

McClellan has not announced whether he will seek re-election. He and McMath have been political foes for several years. Their relations reached bitter proportions last year when McClellan supported Gov. Cherry in his successful race against McMath.

McClellan, who spoke first, devoted most of his speech to international affairs and congressional problems. McMath, who arrived late, followed McClellan with observation, "You appreciate people who stay with the Democratic party in fair weather or foul." It was apparent crack at McClellan's support of some Republican policies.

McMath, in a slip at Cherry, pointed out that 14 miles of highway 29 involved in the road dedication were paved by his administration, and the remaining nine miles graded before he left office.

"I'm sure the present administration will put the pavement on this last stretch," he said.

Cherry, in rebuttal, opened an attack on the McMath administration by saying, "I don't know whether this is last summer, this summer, or next summer."

Cherry said his administration had taken some 10,000 unskilled persons off the McMath welfare rolls, and he also contended that his highway program has taken road policies out of politics, thus correcting conditions unveiled in the 1952 highway audit hearings.

McMath drew the most applause drawing cheers and handclapping on six different occasions during his speech.

McMath issued a statement today denying published reports that he had not been invited to speak on the program.

The former governor released to newsmen a letter written to him by Mayor Cal Baker of Bradley in which Baker asked McMath to be "a special guest" to the celebration. In addition McMath said he had talked on the telephone to Frank Cochran who was host at the barbecue where the speeches were made.

News Briefs

FAYETTEVILLE (UP) — Dr. W. W. Grigoroff has resigned as director of the University of Arkansas Institute of Science and Technology, and will be succeeded by Dr. M. E. Barker, head of the university's chemical engineering department.

The personnel shift takes place Sept. 1, and was announced here today by University President John T. Caldwell.

Dr. Grigoroff is leaving the university to accept chairmanship of the university relations division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, of which the University of Arkansas is a member. He had been with the university since 1948, and had headed up the institute of science and technology since its organization in 1947.

JONESBORO (UP) — Police today were hunting for two men who feigned car trouble to flag down a passing motorist and then slug and rob him of $32.50.

John Gardner, a farmer, was en route to Lepanto from Milligan Ridge Monday night when two men flagged him down. He said their car was parked off the road.

Gardner said when he stopped, one of the men grabbed him, hit him on the head with a small club, and told him, "this is a slick-up."

After going through his pockets, taking $25, Gardner said, the pair jumped into their own car and drove off.

SINGAPORE (UP) — The Singapore tug Grifter left today to take in tow the Japanese tanker Fujisan Maru, disabled 420 miles north of here.

The 9,775-ton tanker radioed last night that her engines had broken down and she was helpless between Bangkok and Singapore. The ship is loaded with a cargo of Persian Gulf oil for Japan.

Telephone Negotiators Report Progress But Strike Set for Thursday

State Workers Prepare to Join Walkout

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Both management and union were getting ready in Arkansas today for a strike of CIO (Communications Workers) against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The 6-state strike is set for 6 a. m. tomorrow unless negotiations produce a new contract agreement in the meantime.

Floyd Taylor of Pine Bluff, CWA international staff representative who will direct strike activities in Arkansas, said about 2,000 operators, commercial, plant and accounting employees in this state would join in the strike.

"We are hopeful, however, that a peaceful settlement will be reached before the strike deadline," he said.

Taylor estimated that 40 telephone exchanges in Arkansas would be affected by the strike. He said his union plans to picket all of them. A strike director has been appointed in each city to supervise picketing and other strike activities, he said.

A Southwestern Bell spokesman said the company would use supervisory personnel to provide service in event of a strike.

Local service would not be affected where dial systems are in use unless there is an equipment breakdown. Supervisors would have to man long distance switchboards everywhere, however, and handle local calls where manual systems are in use.

The company spokesman said there was no plan as yet to restrict long distance calls to service of an emergency nature, adding that the company would try to handle all calls.

"We are hopeful there won't be a strike," he said.

Taylor said the strikers would join the company in maintaining service for police, fire departments and hospitals in the event of an equipment breakdown at such places.

Gas Pump Breakins at Airport Are Investigated

Frequent gasoline pump breakins at Municipal airport are being investigated by the Sheriff's Department, which indicates a suspect has been linked with the jobs.

No arrest has been made but Deputy Sheriff Jim Cook said all evidence pointed to one person. The latest breakin was earlier this week. The thief has messed up and broke the locks on three tanks, owned by farmers in the area, and cut the hose of one and a disaster almost resulted.

Gas spewed over a man and tractor when an operator tried to fill the tank. As he started the tractor it burst into flames which were extinguished. Luckily the operator's clothes did not catch fire.

The gas main has been going on for some time and the thieves have caused considerable damage. Officer Cook said tire and footprint casts and fingerprints have been made and checkups so far point to a local youth.

No Export Subsidy for 1953 Cotton

WASHINGTON (UP) — The 1953 cotton crop will not bear an export subsidy, Secretary of Agriculture Benson said yesterday.

Benson said he was announcing the export subsidy policy at the beginning of the marketing year to enable U. S. exporters, foreign importers and the cotton industry to plan accordingly.

He said the subsidy was not a solution to cotton export problems under present conditions.

The cotton export subsidy, started in December, 1941, was withdrawn in December, 1950.

Strikes Still Have Grip on France

PARIS (UP) — France's most serious postwar strike entered its second week today with a million workmen still out, railroads and communications still paralyzed and Premier Joseph Laniel's government tottering.

Negotiations between the government and non-Communist unions broke down Monday and there was no prospect of a resumption in sight.

Socialist party leader Guy Mollet told Laniel that any savings he might realize through his touted government financial reforms — which touched off the walkouts — already have been surpassed by the huge losses to the French economy from the strike.

Nobody contradicted Mollet. It was expected Parliament would be called back from its vacation for a special session next week. Laniel may be thrown out of office in the bitter squabble certain to develop.

Administration Wants Power Production

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Eisenhower administration has clarified a narrow responsibility in the power field, aimed at giving an increased share to public and private local interests.

But Acting Secretary of the Interior Ralph A. Tisdale said the power policy outlined yesterday was aimed at getting more power production in the nation through more natural resource development.

The Interior Department's policy, which President Eisenhower simultaneously endorsed in Denver, was made public at a news conference. It largely represents the putting together into one document of views previously expressed by top department officials.

The new policy says: "It is recognized that the primary responsibility for supplying power needs of an area rests with the people locally."

"The responsibility of the Department of the Interior is to give leadership and assistance in the conservation and wise utilization of natural resources."

"The department does not as yet have a policy on the subject of power production."

3,000 Beat Strike Date in Kansas City

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Negotiators for both sides reported "definite progress" today in efforts to avert a six-state strike by 63,000 CIO employees of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., scheduled to begin tomorrow.

The report was made as contract talks were recessed at 12:50 p.m. (CDT). It came from Waldo G. Mueller, chief negotiator for the company, and Frank P. Lonergan, vice president of the CIO Communications Workers District. They gave no details.

Meanwhile a picket line appeared at the utility's main office in Kansas City shortly after midnight, 30 hours ahead of the scheduled strike deadline.

Company and union negotiators planned to meet separately this afternoon and then get together again later in the day.

By Under Press

Kansas City's 3,000 telephone employees went on strike today, 2 hours before a deadline set by the CIO Communications Workers of America and Southwestern Bell Telephone company officials said the premature walkout hasn't yet spread to its firms in five other Southwestern states.

Pickets appeared early today at Bell's five buildings in Kansas City, and at exchanges in Kansas City, Kan., Lee's Summit, Bolivar and Independence, Mo.

The CWA has been on strike since into last month in Indiana where state police have been ordered to guard some exchanges after sporadic violence. The National Guard was alerted on "no erect orders."

Frank P. Lonergan, assistant director of CWA District Six, announced a strike deadline of 6 a. m. tomorrow for the CWA members in Missouri, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and parts of Illinois, the territory served by Southwestern Bell.

U. S. Printing Policy Is Denounced

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today denounced the Government Printing Office (GPO) for keeping on its payroll various workers named in FBI reports as Communists. He questioned whether or not that was "even a remotely intelligent" security procedure.

In reply the GPO's top personnel security officer, S. Preston Hipsley, said the printing plant's payroll in all such cases, Hipsley told McCarthy sharply:

"I will not load guiltily to find completely stupid."

The McCarthy-Hipsley exchange came after Mrs. Esther Rothchild, wife of a GPO bookbinder, refused to say whether she ever committed espionage or helped her husband, Edward, do so.

The GPO suspended Rothchild yesterday after he refused to testify before the Senate subcommittee whether he is a Communist or whether he is a spy. The GPO suspended Rothchild yesterday after he refused to testify before the Senate subcommittee whether he is a Communist or whether he is a spy.

jin Reservoir, and Pappy had been tagging along with the Marines for some six weeks or more. It is easy for a war correspondent, news or photos, to fall in love with a Marine unit in the field, and Pappy apparently had a bad case.

Once, when we were able to reach him on the telephone, we asked if he didn't want to come out of the snow and mountains for a little relief.

"Nope," he said. And that was all. He hung up.

Writing wasn't his job, but he used to scribble a few hundred words in pencil on the back of a photo-mailer — a large manila envelope — to tell little anecdotes of life with the Marines. More often than not, we found news and color in these that we hadn't seen anywhere else.

Then came the terrible days when the roof fell in around the center of the line.

The Marines obviously were in a bad spot, with a collapsed front and the Chinese pouring forward the rear.

Pappy could have come out then, before the roads were completely closed. But the last time he was on the telephone, he said he was going to stay. "I feel better up with the kids," he said. He was all of 45 himself at that time.

Then, for a week, we heard no more.

One morning in early December the news came. A group of 13 Marines broke out. They had seen Pappy captured in an ambush.

For a long moment, no body spoke.

Everybody had his own thoughts. Bill Moore, another AP man, never did come back. We could hope that Pappy, at least, was a prisoner. Two of us had been in prison camps in the other war. A third narrowly missed it, having been shot down over the ocean. Fortunately, he was a photographer, name of Bill Achatz, and he survived nicely, floating around for five days in a rubber boat.

We talked over all the angles and possibilities, the way you do when you are trying to find some good in a bad situation. Finally, somebody said:

"Well, don't forget Pappy is a photographer. He'll stay alive just to keep from missing a picture."

"That's the way they are, those characters."

Fighting Over But Work Goes on at Front

By FORREST EDWARDS

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — The young Marine straightened up from the newly dug trench, massaged the small of his back and mopped sweat off his face.

"We've been digging, digging, ever since the armistice," said Pfc. Talmage W. Blackwell of Raleigh, Miss.

"But don't get me wrong. I'm not kicking. I'd rather do something like this than have men getting killed like before the armistice."

All across the 150-mile front, Allied soldiers were swinging picks and shovels into the ground, building new earthen fortifications south of the demilitarized zone.

Others engaged in dangerous mine removal work. Scores of small parties went over ground using the most modern of detectors but even so risking accident and death.

Some men in the forward areas were in salvage operations, bringing back equipment for cleaning, repair and further use.

Engineers were repairing roads and bridges.

North of Munsan, 3,000 Army engineers were hard at work on a huge tent city for North Korean and Chinese prisoners of war who have said they do not want to be sent back behind the "Bamboo Curtain." The tent city will house them while their fate is decided.

It has been mostly work and little play for U. N. troops since the armistice was signed July 27 but an easier life lies ahead. The U. S. 8th Army is planning a big move in its recreation and study programs.

Already there has been a marked increase in the number of men flown out daily from Seoul for five days rest and relaxation in Japan. Sunday, more than 1,000 "R and R" troops flew to Japan.

Bradley Is Worried Over Budget Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Omar Bradley says he is fearful lest this year's slash in the military budget grow into a habit as tempting as, and more dangerous than, the habit of jolting extravagance.

Bradley, five-star general who stepped out four days ago after 2-year terms as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of the Eisenhower administration's decision to cut more than five billion dollars from the Defense Department budget:

"At first glance this looked to me like coasting before you reach the top of the hill. Personally, I would be inclined to keep the pressure on — from a security standpoint — until we reach a higher level of readiness and security."

These statements, in an article written for the Saturday Evening Post and made public last night, were Bradley's first direct criticism of the new defense budget.

During hearings while Congress was considering the matter, he limited himself generally to statements that the nation's top military planners saw no lessening of the threat to this country.

Bradley's statements, in an article written for the Saturday Evening Post and made public last night, were Bradley's first direct criticism of the new defense budget.

Mossadegh, Rhee Are on Powder Kegs

By JAMES MORLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two strong-willed old men, Syngman Rhee and Mohammed Mossadegh, walk dangerously close to the world's powder keg with a lighted match in their hands.

Both move toward the climax of their lives in their late 70s.

And the best the world — the non-Communist world, at least — can do is watch them, hold its breath, and just hope they'll be shrewd and nimble enough not to stumble or fumble.

Rhee, the peppery President of South Korea, is 78. Mossadegh, Iran's Premier, is believed close to 78 too. Both march into the future as determined as if they had a lease on life. But —

If Rhee, exasperated by the forthcoming peace conference, wrecks the treaty by attacking the Chinese, what then? The Chinese seem capable of slaughtering Rhee and his people.

Would the United States and the United Nations stand idly by or would they go in once more to bail out the South Koreans, thus renewing the war which might soon become bigger than Korea?

Mossadegh became Iran's No. 1 man Sunday when the Shah fled into exile. What now has Mossadegh so weakened the structure of government that, unwittingly, he has opened the door for the Iranian Communists to bounce him and take power? That would make Iran another Russian satellite.

What would the United States and the United Nations do in that case, since Iran is strategic in the Middle East and its rich oil fields are important to both Russia and the West?

Rhee has made it abundantly clear what he wants in Korea: unification under him. Mossadegh's ultimate ambition for Iran is far from clear, unless it is making over the country to his liking.

Both men have been in the politics of their homeland most of their lives. Because the two are intense nationalists, both are national heroes. Both use their popularity for all it's worth.

Where they differ profoundly is in the way they go about getting what they want.

The chunky, well-fed looking Rhee is defiant as a rooster. He keeps the air crackling with pronouncements on his attitudes and desires. Not so Mossadegh.

That lean man with the mournful face looks hungry. He has fits of fainting and weeping spells which he manages in public places. He doesn't cry in private conferences.

He has stalked success like a cat, eliminating opponents one step at a time, letting his people and the world guess where he'll jump next.

For half a century there was no doubt about the prominence of Rhee among his Koreans. But Mossadegh, a Johnny-come-lately to high office, was a minor figure in Iran until he became premier a few years ago.

For years he had been a minor member of Parliament, making a hobby of criticizing the government. Although he was reportedly one of the richest of Iranians, he consistently backed liberal measures for the people.

He swam to the top on the wave of nationalism which swept over Iran after World War II, appealing to the Iranians' ancient pride, denouncing foreign interference in his country's affairs, and finding the British a handy target.

For 40 years, through their ownership of Iranian oil production, the British had been a force, perhaps the controlling force, in Iran. Mossadegh led the Iranians in throwing out the British and taking the oil.

That's a problem that has never been settled. But Mossadegh moved from one internal crisis to another until now the question of a settlement on oil is overshadowed by the question of Iran's whole future.

Rhee, on the other hand, had been a Korean rallying point most of his life. It was only natural he should be come president of South Korea when the people had their first chance to elect one, in 1948.

He began fighting the Korean monarchy for reforms in 1924. For this he was jailed and tortured. He came to this country, was educated at Harvard and Princeton, returned to Korea when the Jap-

DOROTHY DIX

Wrong Company

Dear Miss Dix: Recently I broke up with Alec after going with him for two years. I'm 18, and so is he. We had known each other only a few months when we realized we were in love, and made plans for marriage. A year ago, however, he began to go around with a group of boys who spent most of their time drinking. Of course this led to arguments between us and we broke up twice, but went back together. Lately, he has been dating other girls, which led to our last breakup. My family and friends say I shouldn't go back to him, if he wants me, but I still love him, and it would be awfully hard for me to say "No." His mother, who is a wonderful person, says he always has been headstrong, but she feels I should give him time to grow up. I am so terribly lonely without him, and want to rush to him when I see him.

MARCELLA M.

Answer: The heartache and loneliness you feel now, Marcella, are nothing compared with what marriage with the wrong person can bring you. Alec is very young, it's true, but the fundamental principles of consideration and loyalty should be established in the young. They don't come automatically with growing up.

However, although Alec's failings may be due to weak character, I am more inclined to place the trouble on the fact that he began going steady at 16, which is too young an age for a boy to concentrate on one girl. Perhaps you considered him your property and he felt impelled to prove that he is still a free agent. Possessing all your attention on one boy hasn't been too good for you, either, and whether you feel Alec will come back or not, you should really set about establishing a more varied life for yourself.

At present, to you, the future looks black without Alec, and you are discounting the thought that he may not be the right one for you. His general instability, stubbornness, fickleness and concern for his own pleasure do not add up to satisfactory adulthood. Only you can decide whether his failings can be attributed to youth, or more important, if they are likely to persist into later years. When your own social circles, then, see if you don't regard the boy in a different perspective.

Dear Miss Dix: Several years ago my husband and I adopted a child whom we raised with love as our own. When she was about nine she began taking money from my son's wallet, my pocketbook, or those of guests, and, in spite of everything we could do, has persisted in the habit until now, when she's 16. Is there anything we can do to stop this?

MRS. M. M.

Answer: I notice your letter is written on hospital stationery, and I assume that's where you are employed. Surely you know that this kind of child-guidance clinic, and I urge you to take the girl there for counseling and treatment. The underlying cause for her actions must be determined before an effective cure can be made. A personal interview with a child psychologist is the best course to take.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm 16 and have been going with Buddy for three months. I don't care especially for him, but he's lots of fun and I like him as a friend. There is, however, another boy whom I like a lot better, though I have never gone out with him. Do you think he may assume that I go steady with Buddy, and so won't ask me out?

ANN R.

Answer: I'm afraid you are romantically assuming too much. If the second boy's interest is at all aroused by you, he'll show it, whether he thinks you're going steady or not. Don't underestimate the value of a boy who is fun and good company, either. Good companionship, at your age, should be the dominant note in girl-boy relations. Released by Bell Syndicate Inc.

Arkansan Tells of Death March

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP) — An Arkansas soldier today told a story of a death march through North Korea in which 500 American prisoners lost their lives.

Pfc. John W. Medlin of Mena, Ark., said only 200 of the 700 POW's who started the march survived. He said the victims were "beaten to death or died of starvation."

"We first went to 'Bean Camp' where many men died," said Medlin. "We stayed there two weeks and then began marching at night. The men who faltered were hit with sticks and left beside the road."

"I was beaten once with a bayonet because I was in the way of a Chinese guard. I was badly bruised."

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Piggling, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... a family affair. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First — a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work — kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first signs of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-swallow tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

It's tough to pick one game the starting point of a surge toward the flag. But you can find a pretty good case for the Yankees' July 25 encounter in that.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

GROSSINGER, N. Y. —

Out behind the hotel here there is a great stoned terrace, and as we walked out blinking in the sunlight our ears were smitten by the raucous tones of a loudspeaker.

There on a slightly raised platform stood the establishment's official master of ceremonies, his left arm draped across the shoulders of an individual obviously his stonker. A large and appreciative audience was roving between the gags. It is a common tableau between men in this section of the mountains at this stage of the vacation season.

The only thing that, upon closer observation, seemed to set this slightly apart from the run of afternoon exercises was that the stonker man was a prize fighter, name of Rocky Marciano.

Rocky, a neighbor, explained, was taking the day off from training and had dropped down from his camp several miles higher up just in case some of the guests would like to see him.

"Is it true, Rocky," he was asked, "that you began fighting when you were in the Army because there was a bully who was making things miserable for everybody in the company and the boys asked you to take him on?"

"Yes, it is," said Rocky. "He was a great big fellow from Texas. So the boys began talking it up and there were a lot of bets and stuff about it in the camp newspaper. First thing I knew we were in the ring and I knocked him out in the second round. I guess that's when I became a professional fighter."

Not having heard the story before, we wondered who the man from Texas might have been who fired Rocky with the ambition to become a champion. His name should be inscribed somewhere in fistiana's halls. At any rate, the small talk between the champion and the man everybody knew continued in time, Rocky was brought around his knockout of Jersey Joe Walcott, the first one at Philadelphia where he won the title.

"In the eighth round, see," said Rocky, "I got a cut on my head and they put something on it and then they dosed me with water."

"This stuff, whatever it was, ran down into my eyes and the next thing I knew I couldn't see anything. I couldn't see anything from there through the 12th round."

"But, you know didn't you, Rocky, that you couldn't afford to let your opponent know you were blind?" said his brother in the net. "You just kept swinging, didn't you?"

"That's right," said Rocky. "I couldn't see anything, but I kept on swinging and in the 13th I hit him. When I hit him I felt like I was looking down from 10 feet up when I looked at him."

Wrestling to Be Continued Each Tuesday

Perhaps the best show of the season was turned in last night by two Negro women wrestlers, despite the rain, drew a fairly large crowd.

The first match pitted Jimmie Lott of Birmingham against Benito Mata of Mexico City. Lott, the villian, gouged his way to a two of three fall win.

Lott challenged Scotty Williams to a match next Tuesday night and an effort is being made to arrange it. Williams bested Lott here a couple of weeks ago in a good, fast match.

Ethel Johnson, termed the uncrowned champ, won two of three falls over challenger Babs Wingo in a fast, rough contest that the crowd went for.

DOGS

by Tom Farley

DEPARTMENT STORE WATCH DOGS

Although Marshall Field & Co. in Chicago was probably the first of the great department stores to use dogs to discourage nighttime pilfering, the program at Macy's in New York is perhaps better known. A demonstration by Macy guards and guard dogs at the Madison Square Garden horse show last winter gave them wide publicity.

Started nearly two years ago with four Doberman Pinschers trained by John M. Chann, a professional dog trainer formerly attached to the K9 Corps, the dogs are credited with almost eliminating the problem of the nighttime speak thief in the huge Macy building.

The dogs room and board on Macy's roof where insulated dog houses have been provided for them. Ten Macy patrolmen have been trained to handle and care for the dogs. Care includes feeding, washing their ears, bathing their faces and clipping their nails. The latter service is performed to prevent the dogs from making scratching noises on the floor that might alert a prowler.

Their beat covers more than 2,000,000 square feet of space from the subterranean to the twentieth floor. The dogs are not only concerned with uninvited visitors but with anything that may be amiss in the store — escaping steam from a radiator or the odor of smoke that might be a warning of fire.

Each dog is taken out on a leash but at certain points they are released and told to "search." If they come upon anything they regard with suspicion, a bark is given and the guard investigator. Should the something be an intruder the dog will watch this man, attacking only if he attempts to do something wrong.

Grid Champs Seem to Have Easy Problem

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — All college football teams should have the problems of Michigan State, the defending national champion, whether they'll continue to play the platform system—using crack offensive and defensive units as such—or go in for the shock troop strategy of playing balanced teams.

"We haven't decided yet what we'll do," said line coach Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, formerly of Syracuse.

"We may find it's better to go ahead and use the best possible offensive team and take a chance when we lose the ball and go on defense. Or we may try to pick out our best 11 players who can go both ways and use them and then pick out our second best 11 for relief and so forth."

"Any way you figure it you're going to have to make some sacrifice. If your offensive unit is going good you can figure on controlling the ball. But if you lose it, boom, the ball may be back up in your end of the field before you know it."

Daugherty was acting as Michigan State spokesman in an informal round-the-table discussion at the Spartan fieldhouse. The Michigan State situation is so critical the head coach, Biggie Munn, left town for a week's fishing.

The powerful Spartans will have a squad of 64 men, give and take a little, reporting for fall rehearsals next month.

"They're the pick to repeat as the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll."

Lookouts Are Hard on Three Top Teams

By JACK SIMMS Associated Press Sports Writer

Cal Ermer's Chattanooga Lookouts are making life miserable for the Southern Association's three best teams.

If it hadn't been for the "also-rans," the Lookouts would be battling for the 1933 title. Chattanooga has an 8-10 record against first-place Nashville. The Lookouts have won 8 of 10 with second-place Atlanta. And their 9-5 mark against third-place Memphis has all but knocked the Chicks out of pennant contention.

Atlanta ran into the sixth-place Lookouts last night. The score: Chattanooga 5, Atlanta 0. Nashville split a twin bill with Birmingham. The Vols won the opener, 6-3; Birmingham copped the nightcap, 3-1. Last-place Mobile socked Memphis, 7-4, and New Orleans moved to within two games of Birmingham and fourth place by jolting Little Rock, 6-2.

Bob Schultz, big New Orleans lefthander, handed out Little Rock on three hits. Felipe Montemayor homered with a mate aboard in the 10th and New Orleans went on to score twice more to ice the game.

Electric locomotives first appeared on U.S. mainline tracks in 1893.

Veeck to Look for Home for His Brownies

By JACK STEVENSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Bill Veeck is home hunting today for a city and park in which his American League Brownies, presently of St. Louis, can play more profitably next season.

Veeck's presence in Los Angeles has stirred up considerable interest and some civic activity. He plans to visit San Francisco next, but said last night he doesn't know just when. He was there two weeks ago talking with officials.

"I'm just looking at various cities which have evidenced interest in having a major league baseball," he said. "But you can't have a major league baseball without a major league park."

And at present Los Angeles does not have a park coming up to necessary specifications available.

Veeck's search for greener pasture has the conditional approval of the American League owners who last spring turned down his bid to move to Baltimore. He confirmed reports the club presidents told him he could transfer the Browns if and when he can prove he is financially able to make the change.

But a committee of four owners made it plain that it would not approve either Los Angeles or San Francisco individually. Owners feel having only one club on the Pacific Coast would be a hardship travel-wise.

Three U.S. Presidents, Johnson, Jackson, and Polk were born in North Carolina.

Seven Arkansans Take Trap Titles

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Seven Arkansans including three members of the Petty family, competed in U.S. North American Clay Target Championship at the 54th Grand American Trapshoot here yesterday.

None of the Arkansans sharpshooters managed to win a championship, but Julius Petty of Stuttgart lacked only two targets of making the men's division title a three-way shootoff.

Petty broke 198 of 200 targets while two other competitors broke 200 even to put the title in a dead lock.

Other results: Mrs. Julius Petty, 91-90-187. Gene Petty, 79-77-150. Lonnie Reed, Little Rock, 99-4-197. H. E. Jeter, Altheimer, 96-97-193. C. W. Hulen, Hughes, 89-90-19. B. L. Smead, Camden, 85-94-188.

Magistrate C. Harold Kitchen imposed the fine and jail sentence.

Former Altar Boy Holds Mass in Prison

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea — A former altar boy who became a "father" in a North Korean prison camp, today told today's "Star" that he had seen a priest in the camp, and even said special prayers for the dead.

With three former prison mates sitting by his side, the Robert G. Draper, 24, of Chicago, told his story to newsmen and to a Catholic priest.

The four were proud of their success in ranking punishment to worship and pray together at camp in North Cheongong, where the Communists strictly ordered men and to hold religious meetings.

Draper's three buddies, Sgt. Ed. W. Finkbein Jr., 23, of Somerville, Mass.; Sgt. Joseph A. Nicholas, and Pvt. Anthony McDonald, 21, both of Philadelphia, together, he called the blind Cheongong "Father Draper."

Nicholas displayed a rosary he had worn for a year and a half of his two years in Communist captivity. It was made from the dismantling of a field jacket provided by a Buddhist from Hanoi. The beads were knots formed by a Mormon from Hanoi, and the crucifix was fashioned from a metal and tooth paste tube by a fellow Catholic.

"I said the Rosary twice a day," Nicholas said, "and three times on Sunday. Other fellows made rosaries from shoelaces."

The men said they began holding mass prayers after failing to get Communist permission on Thanksgiving Day, 1952.

"Every Sunday we got together in a little room where eight men lived," Draper said. "Once — on Christmas eve when we had candlelight services — we got 25 men in there."

Usually, he said, the men held the services between 12 noon and 2:30 p. m. when their Chinese guards took a daily ablute.

There will be a Junior baseball game at City park Wednesday night, August 19 between Mt. Olive Junior Cats and Junior Legioners. Game time is 8 p.m. The Post Commander, Clifford Carmichael requests a call meeting Thursday night, August 20. All members are asked to be present for the purpose of completing plans for the dance Saturday night.

Saturday night, August 22 the Nelson Hill Post No. 427 is sponsoring a dance and floor show. This is something different in the way of entertainment. Admission will be $1.25 advance and $1.50 at the door. For table reservations, call T. C. Davis (7-3346 or 7-4474). Tickets will be on sale at the usual places.

The Southwest Arkansas District Conference will convene at Mt. Zion CME Church Thursday, August 20, at 10 a.m. The Rev. J. S. Washington of Texarkana will preside.
